

Lost Puppy

Please help us find our lost dog.

His name is Cerberus. He broke his leash last Sunday and we haven't seen him since.

He likes to spend time at river crossings, barking at the people crossing them and occasionally trying to stop them.

To catch him, wrestling him with bare hands is the only method we have ever seen used that was effective, but we suggest you initiate yourself into the Eleusinian Mysteries first.

Physical Description:

Powerful unneutered male dog, about thirty feet tall.

Brown coat, red eyes, and long sharp talons instead of claws.

He loves raw meat and devouring souls that try to escape back across the river Styx.

Three distinctive heads, each often with a human body/soul in the mouth.

Blood red collar, no tags.

If found, please return him to his loving parents, Hades and Persephone. Thank you.
